

Astrologer Mohnish Suri Commentary Examines Rising Middle East Tensions and Historical Escalation Patterns

Public discussions analyze geopolitical risk frameworks, historical tension cycles, and market reactions during periods of international strain.

VANCOUVER, BC, CANADA, March 3, 2026 /EINPresswire.com/ -- In light of recent developments in the Middle East, digital commentator and Vedic astrology practitioner Mohnish Suri has drawn attention to previously published video discussions examining geopolitical risk dynamics, escalation environments, and historical tension cycles.

In public video analyses including “One Miscalculation Away: US-Iran & the Middle East” and “2026: The Most Dangerous Eclipse — Are You Prepared?”, Suri explored broader themes such as alliance pressures, diplomatic strain, regional volatility, and the concept of miscalculation risk during periods of heightened global tension after Feb 17th Solar Eclipse.

These discussions analyze broader geopolitical risk cycles and historical escalation patterns rather than asserting specific or guaranteed outcomes.”

The discussions did not assert specific events but examined historical patterns in which international friction, energy sensitivity, and market volatility tend to intensify simultaneously. The commentary incorporates macro-observational analysis alongside traditional timing frameworks, including elements of Vedic astrology, to explore how periods of heightened uncertainty may coincide with increased geopolitical instability.

“These discussions are intended to examine general geopolitical risk cycles and escalation environments,” said Suri. “They are not claims of guaranteed outcomes, but an effort to analyze broader historical and timing patterns.”

The video content remains publicly accessible and is presented as educational commentary on global volatility, macro-risk environments, and international tension dynamics.
